Once again we have had an amazing year at PSRC. Some of the accomplishments are visible to you if you come in to the Center, while others are behind the scenes. Some highlights:

- Most noticeable may be the new Stark Community Room with new furnishing and soft lighting to welcome you and encourage you to visit with others.
- We moved several Evergreen Forum classes to the Presbyterian Church of Lawrenceville. This enabled us to increase the number of classes with additional classroom and parking space. This was more convenient for some participants, and we heard many positive responses.
- Building on our work on marketing and branding, new brochures have been created for all programs and the weekly e-news and updates. We are encouraging you to sign up for the electronic newsletter.
- We celebrated the 20th anniversary of the GrandPals program, with 110 volunteers in 16 classes last year in all four public elementary schools and the summer program. This fall we will celebrate 20 years of HomeFriends volunteer visitors.
- We held several special programs during the year, some of which helped with our fund-raising efforts. We also had a fun special Give Your Love campaign in February. These efforts are critically important to support the stability and growth of PSRC.
- We sought—and received—great feedback from you on our website and programs. Many other less visible changes transpired, including new computers and software for staff, updating bylaws, evaluating and revising processes for more effective functioning.

Those of you who come in to the Suzanne Patterson Building and Spruce Circle know that there are always things going on. This year an average of 1275 people attended activities and 75 received social service support weekly. Throughout the year, 1033 attended Evergreen Forum classes, 2704 attended enrichment programs, 485 people attended groups and 542 were registered Crosstown riders.

We offered 26 computer classes and 25 lunch and learns. 375 volunteers and 59 community organizations and businesses helped make these programs possible.
We’re excited about what lies ahead in the 2017-18 year. Enrollment for Fall Evergreen Forum is well under way, and we’ve scheduled a new series of Monday evening lectures entitled “Your Engaged Retirement” in collaboration with the Princeton Public Library, beginning this month.

We’re busy planning the annual October Health Fair and a fall conference on technology in November, as well as several special programs. Lunch and Learn programs are now called FYI (For Your Information).

Be sure to come laugh with us at the Second City performance on the 24th, and be sure to buy raffle tickets for wine and dine packages or a two-week vacation in Puerto Rico!

Your support is essential to sustaining PSRC, a non-profit organization. Make sure you sign up for the newsletter by email or subscribe for paper so you can keep up with the programs, services, and helpful information that we send each month.

If you want someone to show you how to install a deadbolt lock, change your furnace filter (or maybe learn that you have one), or spatchcock a turkey, you’ll find your answer on YouTube https://www.youtube.com/. You can watch last night’s PBS NewsHour while eating your Wheatabix, catch up on last week’s Late Show monologues, or reminisce with the Jack Benny Program from the 1960s, all courtesy of YouTube.

If a picture is worth a thousand words, then a video is worth a million, and there are millions of YouTube videos at your fingertips. Searching YouTube subjects is as simple as using Google, which, as it happens, owns YouTube. Search for “Old Car Commercials” and you’ll soon be watching a Desoto ad—“Tell them Groucho sent you.” Type “Cute Kittens,” and a bajillion videos of adorable felines will be offered for your viewing pleasure.

If you subscribe to YouTube (through your Gmail account)¹, you can also bookmark YouTube “channels,” like PBS News Hour, Just Planes (for a pilot’s eye view of take offs and landings), or Periodic Videos (all about the periodic table of elements) where professor Martyn Poliakoff blows stuff up.

Want to learn how to format a document using Microsoft Word? Fix a cabinet? Make a drop-forged crowbar (who doesn’t)? Well, you’re not alone; others have recorded these “how-to’s” and uploaded their solutions for you on YouTube. It’s Free, but…

YouTube is free, but some videos will make you watch a short commercial that you can opt out of after a few seconds. Or, for $12 a month, the ads go away (worth it if you do a lot of You-Tubing). If you shell out $35 a month, you can subscribe to YouTube TV, which includes LIVE TV broadcasts plus several basic cable channels and unlimited video storage. (All this will be the subject of an upcoming Computer Guru article on “video streaming services.”)

Of course, YouTube will not replace the personal charm we provide at PSRC. So, if you need help setting up YouTube, your i-gadget, or laptop, visit PSRC’s computer lab on Tuesday from 1:00 to 4 p.m., or Friday from 10 a.m. until noon. Note: Our drop forge is out for repair, so no crowbars this week.

¹We can help you set up a Gmail account if you don’t have one. It’s free, and you can’t beat free.

This month’s highlighted annual sponsor:

Some decisions are difficult. But Acorn Glen makes those decisions a little easier. A record of high-quality attentive care...spacious and attractive surroundings...an unsurpassed level of activities and services. It’s how Acorn Glen sets the standard for assisted living in gracious style.
A recent publication from the National Institute on Health about Talking to Your Doctor states, “Good health care depends on good communication with your doctor and other healthcare professionals.”

The publication highlights the need to prepare in advance for doctor appointments. This preparation begins with finding the right doctor to provide the type of care that meets both your medical and emotional needs. You’ll want to interview the office staff over the phone by asking questions that address what’s most important to you. Here are some examples from the publication.

Basics:
- Is the doctor taking new patients?
- Is the doctor covered by my insurance plan?
- Does the doctor accept Medicare as full payment as full payment?

Logistics:
- What’s the location of the doctor’s office?
- Is there parking? What does it cost?
- Does the building have an elevator? Ramps for a walker or wheelchair?
- How far in advance do I need to make appointments?

Once you’ve selected a doctor and have your appointment, you need to gather information for the appointment. The publication made recommendations to guide you through the preparation process: Make a list of your questions (in order of priority to you); make another list of your health issues so you’re sure to reflect on and include all the medical issues (and medications) you’re managing.

Often a symptom may not seem important, but a good doctor will be listening to your description, and will be thinking as a diagnostician. You may not be aware that a certain symptom is relevant to your overall health, but talking about it at the doctor visit just may save you from unnecessary testing—or reveal something that should be tested.

Since the amount of time you’re allotted in any given doctor appointment may be brief, it’s critical to prepare in advance in order to communicate the information as efficiently as possible.

You can reach the General Resources National Institute on Aging Information Center by phone at 800.222.2225 (toll-free); 800.222.4225 (TTY/toll free); by email at niaic@nia.gov; or check out the website: nia.nih.gov/health.

PSRC’s Support and Guidance team is happy to provide information and resources to make your doctor visits as easy as possible for you. Please give us a call at 609.252.2362 or 609.924.7108.
