CALENDAR

While decorating for the holidays a tradition, too often health and safety is compromised. The Burlington County Health Department wants to suggest a few easy ideas to decorate safely.

All door and window decorations should be removed after January 1.

For more information about proper disposal of electronics, call 800-906-0030 or email recycle.burlington@co.burlington.nj.us.

Thursday, December 23

The Burlington County Health Department will offer flu clinics for patients through January at clinics throughout the county.

Adult drive-thru clinics will be held for adults and teenagers aged 5 and older at Ewing Community Center, 620 Ewing St., Ewing, from 3 to 6 p.m. on weekdays and from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday, January 9.

Sign up for flu shots at www.co.burlington.nj.us/flu.

Free registration details will be available at www.pbs1777.org. Registration for the Spring 2021 Italian Language course begins January 4. To register, visit https://us02web.zoom.us/webinar/register/tJFv50-5Fh5Zo-FvyoCBzKw_cXUL-A

Friday, January 1

Roxanne, the artful crafters, will host a free workshop on Sunday, January 3, 1-2 p.m. at the Morven, 55 Walnut St., Princeton. The workshop is free and open to the public.

To register, visit www.eventbrite.com/e/wendy-hollender-travels-125025979289

In conjunction with the anniversary of the Battle of Princeton, the Arts Council of Princeton is presenting a live Zoom event

For questions, email dlampertrudman@morven.org

Saturday, January 2

The Winter Intensive features Ricardo De Nigris, Charles Anderson, and Shalini Madhavendra. Classes include classical ballet technique, pointe, character, and technique (sewing, for example) combined with mixed media techniques and collage to create visual poems. These two hours.

For the schedule, and to register, visit https://egmagic52.org

The Arts Council of Princeton is offering a new Winter Intensive course featuring the work of three internationally renowned instructors.

To learn more, visit artsandhistoryprinceton.org.

Thursday, January 7

To register, visit arballet.org.

The Winter Intensive faculty features Riccardo De Nigris, Charles Anderson, and Shalini Madhavendra. Classes include classical ballet technique, pointe, character, and technique (sewing, for example) combined with mixed media techniques and collage to create visual poems. These two hours.

To register, visit arballet.org.

The Arts Council of Princeton is offering a new Winter Intensive course featuring the work of three internationally renowned instructors.

To learn more, visit artsandhistoryprinceton.org.

Friday, January 8

The New Jersey Societies of the Sons of the American Revolution (NSSAR) will present a 2:30 p.m. presentation at the Princeton Home on Wednesday, January 27, 2021. The program will be titled “What is a 1777 Battle?”

For more information, call Al Bollinger at 609-267-0535.

Saturday, January 9

Registration is a first-come, first-served system. Online registration opens on Jan. 3 at 9 a.m., at princetonballet.org. Young children while making and exhibiting her own art. Kolodziej was editing for Princeton University Press and writing a book about her father's work, Kolodziej's late father's workbench.

To purchase a Nutcracker Channel ticket, visit www.roxballet.org.

Through Jan. 3, there are eight performances, offered free to the public. The event will be available on Zoom.

To register, visit https://us02web.zoom.us/webinar/register/tJFv50-5Fh5Zo-FvyoCBzKw_cXUL-A

In conjunction with the anniversary of the Battle of Princeton, the Arts Council of Princeton is presenting a live Zoom event

For questions, email dlampertrudman@morven.org

Saturday, January 9

The Winter Intensive features Ricardo De Nigris, Charles Anderson, and Shalini Madhavendra. Classes include classical ballet technique, pointe, character, and technique (sewing, for example) combined with mixed media techniques and collage to create visual poems. These two hours.

For the schedule, and to register, visit https://egmagic52.org

The Arts Council of Princeton is offering a new Winter Intensive course featuring the work of three internationally renowned instructors.

To learn more, visit artsandhistoryprinceton.org.

Friday, January 1

Roxanne, the artful crafters, will host a free workshop on Sunday, January 3, 1-2 p.m. at the Morven, 55 Walnut St., Princeton. The workshop is free and open to the public.

To register, visit www.eventbrite.com/e/wendy-hollender-travels-125025979289

In conjunction with the anniversary of the Battle of Princeton, the Arts Council of Princeton is presenting a live Zoom event

For questions, email dlampertrudman@morven.org

Saturday, January 2

The Winter Intensive features Ricardo De Nigris, Charles Anderson, and Shalini Madhavendra. Classes include classical ballet technique, pointe, character, and technique (sewing, for example) combined with mixed media techniques and collage to create visual poems. These two hours.

For the schedule, and to register, visit https://egmagic52.org

The Arts Council of Princeton is offering a new Winter Intensive course featuring the work of three internationally renowned instructors.

To learn more, visit artsandhistoryprinceton.org.

Friday, January 8

The New Jersey Societies of the Sons of the American Revolution (NSSAR) will present a 2:30 p.m. presentation at the Princeton Home on Wednesday, January 27, 2021. The program will be titled “What is a 1777 Battle?”

For more information, call Al Bollinger at 609-267-0535.

Saturday, January 9

Registration is a first-come, first-served system. Online registration opens on Jan. 3 at 9 a.m., at princetonballet.org. Young children while making and exhibiting her own art. Kolodziej was editing for Princeton University Press and writing a book about her father's work, Kolodziej's late father's workbench.

To purchase a Nutcracker Channel ticket, visit www.roxballet.org.

Through Jan. 3, there are eight performances, offered free to the public. The event will be available on Zoom.

To register, visit https://us02web.zoom.us/webinar/register/tJFv50-5Fh5Zo-FvyoCBzKw_cXUL-A

In conjunction with the anniversary of the Battle of Princeton, the Arts Council of Princeton is presenting a live Zoom event

For questions, email dlampertrudman@morven.org

Saturday, January 9

The Winter Intensive features Ricardo De Nigris, Charles Anderson, and Shalini Madhavendra. Classes include classical ballet technique, pointe, character, and technique (sewing, for example) combined with mixed media techniques and collage to create visual poems. These two hours.

For the schedule, and to register, visit https://egmagic52.org

The Arts Council of Princeton is offering a new Winter Intensive course featuring the work of three internationally renowned instructors.

To learn more, visit artsandhistoryprinceton.org.

Friday, January 1

Roxanne, the artful crafters, will host a free workshop on Sunday, January 3, 1-2 p.m. at the Morven, 55 Walnut St., Princeton. The workshop is free and open to the public.

To register, visit www.eventbrite.com/e/wendy-hollender-travels-125025979289

In conjunction with the anniversary of the Battle of Princeton, the Arts Council of Princeton is presenting a live Zoom event

For questions, email dlampertrudman@morven.org

Saturday, January 2

The Winter Intensive features Ricardo De Nigris, Charles Anderson, and Shalini Madhavendra. Classes include classical ballet technique, pointe, character, and technique (sewing, for example) combined with mixed media techniques and collage to create visual poems. These two hours.

For the schedule, and to register, visit https://egmagic52.org

The Arts Council of Princeton is offering a new Winter Intensive course featuring the work of three internationally renowned instructors.

To learn more, visit artsandhistoryprinceton.org.

Friday, January 8

The New Jersey Societies of the Sons of the American Revolution (NSSAR) will present a 2:30 p.m. presentation at the Princeton Home on Wednesday, January 27, 2021. The program will be titled “What is a 1777 Battle?”

For more information, call Al Bollinger at 609-267-0535.

Saturday, January 9

Registration is a first-come, first-served system. Online registration opens on Jan. 3 at 9 a.m., at princetonballet.org. Young children while making and exhibiting her own art. Kolodziej was editing for Princeton University Press and writing a book about her father's work, Kolodziej's late father's workbench.

To purchase a Nutcracker Channel ticket, visit www.roxballet.org.

Through Jan. 3, there are eight performances, offered free to the public. The event will be available on Zoom.

To register, visit https://us02web.zoom.us/webinar/register/tJFv50-5Fh5Zo-FvyoCBzKw_cXUL-A

In conjunction with the anniversary of the Battle of Princeton, the Arts Council of Princeton is presenting a live Zoom event

For questions, email dlampertrudman@morven.org

Saturday, January 2

The Winter Intensive features Ricardo De Nigris, Charles Anderson, and Shalini Madhavendra. Classes include classical ballet technique, pointe, character, and technique (sewing, for example) combined with mixed media techniques and collage to create visual poems. These two hours.

For the schedule, and to register, visit https://egmagic52.org

The Arts Council of Princeton is offering a new Winter Intensive course featuring the work of three internationally renowned instructors.

To learn more, visit artsandhistoryprinceton.org.

Friday, January 8

The New Jersey Societies of the Sons of the American Revolution (NSSAR) will present a 2:30 p.m. presentation at the Princeton Home on Wednesday, January 27, 2021. The program will be titled “What is a 1777 Battle?”

For more information, call Al Bollinger at 609-267-0535.

Saturday, January 9

Registration is a first-come, first-served system. Online registration opens on Jan. 3 at 9 a.m., at princetonballet.org. Young children while making and exhibiting her own art. Kolodziej was editing for Princeton University Press and writing a book about her father's work, Kolodziej's late father's workbench.

To purchase a Nutcracker Channel ticket, visit www.roxballet.org.

Through Jan. 3, there are eight performances, offered free to the public. The event will be available on Zoom.

To register, visit https://us02web.zoom.us/webinar/register/tJFv50-5Fh5Zo-FvyoCBzKw_cXUL-A

In conjunction with the anniversary of the Battle of Princeton, the Arts Council of Princeton is presenting a live Zoom event

For questions, email dlampertrudman@morven.org

Saturday, January 2

The Winter Intensive features Ricardo De Nigris, Charles Anderson, and Shalini Madhavendra. Classes include classical ballet technique, pointe, character, and technique (sewing, for example) combined with mixed media techniques and collage to create visual poems. These two hours.

For the schedule, and to register, visit https://egmagic52.org

The Arts Council of Princeton is offering a new Winter Intensive course featuring the work of three internationally renowned instructors.

To learn more, visit artsandhistoryprinceton.org.